

Anni Corridor

Anni is a Venezuelan architect, specialized in contemporary architecture design. She worked four years in U.S.A. designing high-income buildings. In 2007 Anni came back to Venezuela to work with landscape, interior, transport and urban designers. She joined CDC in 2009 to create and promote contemporary architecture design on the island of Curacao. She specialized in Urban Parks Landscaping Design (2014). She has dedicated her time to study Curacao's landscape and construction techniques, working together with construction teams and material suppliers.