

Guido Rojer

Guido Rojer is a lecturer of entrepreneurship & innovation at the University of Curaçao. He is a seasoned expert on the role of talent in innovation and is currently writing up his dissertation on Entrepreneurship Education in College and University Curricula, at the UNED Madrid. He's currently fulfilling his second term as deputy treasurer of ACU, the largest Credit Union in the Dutch Caribbean. Guido holds a graduate degree in Innovation from Maastricht Graduate School of Governance, and an undergraduate degree in Business from the University of Curaçao.