

Jeroen Jansen

Jeroen Jansen (45) is a senior policy officer at the Ministry of Governance, Planning and Public Services. As a sociologist, he has a background in community development, youth development and migration policies. Regarding the latter he was the initiator and coordinator of OMIC, the first local substantial survey on the impact of migration in Curacao. Next to that Jeroen is also a freelance journalist with almost 300 publications under his belt, spanning a wide range of topics.